GEN. GORDON'S SPEECH

The U. P. Church Was Packed
Last Night.

NO OBJECTIONABLE FEATURES

Were Introduced by This One Time Great Confederate Soldier and Fighter—He Paid Warm Tribute to Grant, Sherman, Sheridan, Hooker, Meade, McClellan and Custer, and Was the Recipient of Hearty Applause.

The United Presbyterian church was crowded last night, and General J. B. Gordon, late confederate soldier and gallant fighter, but now thoroughly reconstructed and patriotic citizen, loyal from center to circumference, was given an ovation which must have warmed the very cockles of his soldierly and manly heart. Rev. J. C. Taggart introduced the speaker, in a neat and happy talk, and Gordon captured his audience from the first word uttered by him, securing undivided attention for over two hours, while he gave his sketch of the last days of the confederacy. He began his address by stating that he would not attempt a full description of the great battles of the late war, but would deal with scenes and incidents which would best illustrate the life and character of the American soldier. He gave, in a humorous way, General Lee's reasons for crossing into Pennsylvania in the year 1863, showing that the confederate soldiers were short of rations and that the waving grain and herds of fat cattle upon the hillsides of the Keystone state were an almost irresistible attraction to hungry men, blessed with healthy appetites. Next came a description of Gordon's command in its raid along the Susquehanna river, and of the saving from burning of the town of Wrightsville by the confederate leader. Then followed a glowing tribute to a Pennsylvania woman, whom the speaker described as "the heroine of the Susquehanna;" a woman who treated Gordon and his officers with courtesy and kindness, creating the impression in the general's mind that she was a southern sympathizer; and that is where the southerner made a mistake, as patriotic fire flashed in the loyal woman's eyes as she made reply:

"General Gordon, you must not misinterpret my actions. I am a northern woman, patriotic to the core, and I believe in the justice of our cause. I love the dear old flag and all it represents. My husband and my son are in the northern army, backed by my blessing, and I ask for God's blessing upon them and upon my beloved country."

The orator vowed that he honored and esteemed that noble woman of the Susquehanna, and expressed the opinion that she was the true representative of thousands of her sisters in the northland, and followed this up with a warm tribute to the women of the south, who willingly gave up husbands, fathers, brothers, sons and loved relatives for the cause they loved so well, sacrificing wealth and position and enduring hardships unspeakable.

Coming to the Gettysburg field of carnage, he spoke of the wounding of Major General Barlowe, of the Union army, while gallantly leading his men, in the desperate effort to check the forward movement of the exultant confederates, giving an account of Barlowe's requesting him to deliver certain letters to his beloved wife, then at General Meade's headquarters, in the rear of the union army; of how a flag of truce was sent through the federal lines, and of Mrs. Barlowe coming to her loved husband's side at the hour of midnight and acting the part of the ministering angel. Gordon thought that Barlowe died in that bloody field, as mention was made of the death of General Barlowe, through the northern papers. General J. B. Gordon, of North Carolina, commander of a confederate brigade, was also mentioned among the killed, and Barlowe thought his preserver was dead. Years afterward, in a northern city, the two gallant officers met, and great was their mutual astonishment when explanations were made. It goes without telling that the two men are now close, bosom friends, no longer "rebel" or "union" soldiers, but each loving the dear old flag—each ready to do and dare, and die if necessary, in the defense of the stars and stripes; as the speaker said: "Here is the exemplification of the fact that truth is stranger than fiction."

Next came a glorious tribute to General George G. Meade, union commander at Gettysburg, Gordon stating that the archives at Washington will yet make history showing the superb generalship and military skill of Pennsylvania's soldier son. Then came the relation of an incident which occurred shortly after the war at Atlanta, when General Meade's health was proposed, amid hearty response and cheers, and when, a moment later, some one proposed General J. B. Gordon's health, and a fellow—not a soldier, but a sutler—raised objection, and was sat down upon beautifully by Meade, the soldier, citizen and gentleman:

Then came an account of General Hancock's magnificent soldiers in the wilderness, when he sent his famous dispatch to the commander-in-chief, that he had doubled up and captured one entire confederate command, and was then hot after Jubal Early's command. He also gave an account of the terrific musketry firing upon the flanks of the respective armies, asserting that the discharges had continued, without a moment's cessation, for 20 hours, something never before known in the history of warfare, and the result was awful in the extreme, the fatalities being simply horrifying, the breastworks outside being literally covered with Union dead and wounded, while the ditches inside the works were filled with dead confederates; an occasion when deeds of courage and bravery were common features, such deeds as could not but win admiration from the men engaged on either side.

A description, eloquent in the extreme, was given of the splendid work done by Hancock's command, when Lee's lines were rent in twain, and when the commander-in-chief of the confederate forces, Gen. Robert E. Lee, determined to lead, in person, a desperate charge, in order to endeavor to gain the lost vantage ground. History shows how General Gordon rode to Lee's side, grasped the reins of the latter's war horse in his hand and told the commander that he should not thus risk a life so precious to the confederacy, pleading with Lee to go to the rear, while Gordon himself would lead the charge. Then the rank and file took up the cry of "General Lee to the rear," and literally forced the southern leader to a place of comparative safety. Gordon's native modesty forbade him to speak of himself as the leader of that famous counter charge—but history tells the story as given above.

The relation of the last confederate council, previous to the final surrender, was pathetic in the extreme, and the account of the attempt of Gordon's command to cut through Grant's lines was listened to with wrapt attention, as was the description of Custer's demand for an unconditional surrender, and the meeting, under flag of truce, of gallant Phil Sheridan and General Gordon. General Grant's action in granting such splendidly merciful terms to officers and men of the conquered confederacy was committed upon in glowing terms of approbation, and with such imagery and eloquence as to bring forth a storm of applause from the delighted audience.

General Gordon related numerous instances of the pluck, heroism and staunch courage of the private soldier, federal and confederate, and showed how, under the most adverse circumstances, surrounded by privation, hunger and suffering, his good humor was inexhaustible. Citing an incident, he said that he noted, in his desperate conflict, when the front lines of his forces were melting away under the awful fire from the Union forces, and when the capture of the entire command looked certain, a confederate soldier speeding for the rear, in order to avoid capture and imprisonment, Gordon halted him and said: "See here, my man, what are you running for?" The soldier looked up at him, apparently amazed at such a question, and made reply:

"Hell, General, I'm running because I can't fly!"

The speaker closed with a grand tribute to the stars and stripes, pleading for a united country, no north, no south, but one happy, united land, and urged the youth of our nation to ever encourage this grand thought, and to stand up nobly for the dear old flag and the principles it represents.

A large number of those present went to the platform and shook hands with General Gordon at the close of his speech, and among this number were noted prominent Grand Army men, who evidently found nothing offensive in the eloquent talk of the famous fighter of the confederacy.

The writer, in a private interview with General Gordon, previous to going to the United Presbyterian church, said to him: "General Gordon, the report was started in East Liverpool that your lectures are given in the interest of a fund which is being raised in the southland, for the purpose of erecting a monument to Jeff Davis."

And then one could see the power

A MATTER OF MONEY

Finance Committee Talked
Salaries Last Night.

STATE CASES CUT A FIGURE

Upon the Income From Them Depends the Report of the Committee—How Much the Offices Have Been Worth.
More Information Desired.

Finance committee of council discussed the ordinance of Councilman Stewart for the paving of salaries to city officials last night, but did not decide on a report.

The meeting was held in the office of Clerk Hanley, and the door was closed. When the newspaper men appeared and asked for admission they were informed that it was a private session and the report would be given out after it was all over, and though they lingered near in the hope of the committee changing its ruling they met with disappointment. The door did not open.

Doctor Marshall, Mr. Owen, Mr. Stewart and Clerk Hanley were present, and there was a great deal of talk about salaries, costs and cases. The books for two years were gone over carefully and much information gathered.

It was found that in the fiscal year of 1884 the mayor received $829.80 in fees and $250 in salary making his compensation $1,079.80. In the same time the marshal received $54.50 in fees and $660 in salary, making a total of $1,206.50. In this year the committee was compelled to guess a little, but taking the eight months already passed they found the mayor would get $1,189.87 and the marshal $1,165.37. These amounts include the fees from state and city cases, and the committee wanted the state cases separated from those brought under the ordinances.

As Doctor Marshall put it "I want to know whether the law abiding people or the law breaking element of the city is expected to pay these salaries." The law provides a fee for state cases which no ordinance can take away from the officials, and the committee wants to know whether the greater amount in fees comes from state or city cases. To reach this end will require a careful going over of the books for the past five years, and Clerk Hanley was instructed to do the work. The committee has no desire to pay salaries if it is to cost more than the old system.

HOW WILL IT BE?

Can Independent Labor Men Vote at the Primaries?

"What is to be done about the Independent Labor voters at the Republican primaries?" said a well known union man today. "Will their votes be received at the primaries when it is known they will vote against the ticket they then support?"

I don't think anyone but Republicans should be allowed to vote at the primary, and that each should be asked when the vote is cast. The labor men could support the weakest man at the primaries, and would then turn around and vote their own ticket on election day. I don't believe in allowing people to make a ticket and then help to break it down."

THE CAR WAITED

While the Stranger Recovered His Rubbers.

A well dressed stranger made an attempt to board a street car near the freight depot last evening, and in wading through the mud, lost his overshoes. He discovered his loss in time, and the motorman kindly waited while he recovered the rubbers. The stranger looked at the black, forbidding mud with a frown, but rolling up his trowsers he waded in and got the shoes. Then he got on the car, and said a few things which probably made the ears of every councilman in town tingle.

CLAIMING AN INHERITANCE.

It Comes From New Jersey and Is a Snug Sum.

Thomas Wonklet, employed at the Union pottery as decorator and residing on Thompson hill, has been notified that the estate of his father in Trenton is being settled up and he will have his share. The estate amounted to $60,000, and the Liverpool man will get $15,000 the number of heirs being four. He has already received $3,000 of the money, and the remainder will be sent here as soon as possible.

A FALSE ALARM.

Some One Called Out the Department
This Morning.

When the firemen were snugly sleeping in the station this morning at 2:30 o'clock, some one chanced to pass

the patrol box near the Dresden, and opening the door, it is not locked, sent in an alarm. The bell sounded loudly, and the whole department turned out in haste, made a good run, and found they were fooled. Of course they were glad enough to find there was no fire, but if they had happened upon the individual who sent in the alarm he would have heard something of interest concerning himself.

THE HERALD DESTROYED.

Foreman George Barco Perished in the Flames.

Special to THE NEWS REVIEW.

McKEESPORT, Feb. 8.—The Almeyer theater burned this morning, and with it went the office of the Morning Herald. The forms were being closed for today's paper when the flames burst into the composing room. Foreman George Barco was overcome by the flames and died, and the printers were saved by John Joyce, who knew the building well, and conducted them, fainting and gasping to a fire escape. The beautiful theater was destroyed, and the loss will not fall far short of $300,000.

The first issue of the Herald was put out by Captain Palmer as business manager, and Thomas W. Morris as editor, the property being owned by a stock company. The editor in charge last night was W. T. Anderson, formerly of the NEWS REVIEW, and one of the reporters was Arthur T. Wynne, also well known in Liverpool because of his connection in a reportorial capacity with this paper.

YOUTHFUL THIEVES.

They Were Captured After Stealing From a Hardware Store.

Two boys entered the Eagle hardware store yesterday afternoon, and were seen hastening out of the back door by one of the employees. He followed, but the boys quickly separated, and he was compelled to chase the nearest. He caught the youngster on Sixth street and found that he had not taken anything, but he confessed the other had stolen a pair of gloves. He was allowed to go upon the promise the property would be returned. In 10 minutes he was back with the gloves, but meantime a monkey wrench was found missing. He promised to return that and it was brought back. They gave the names of Jones and Hines.

TO MEET WEDNESDAY.

Date of City Primaries Will Then be Chosen.

The Republican Central committee will meet on Wednesday evening at 7 o'clock, and will settle the question that has so long been agitating the mind of every candidate for municipal office. They will decide when the primaries will be held. Questions asked of members of the committee will be elicited to obtain information as to the probable date. On the same evening the Republicans of the township will select delegates to the congressional convention. It is desired that the meeting be held promptly at the time indicated since many Republicans want to attend the Lincoln banquet.

THAT DEMOCRATIC DAILY.

More Talk of Another Afternoon Paper in Town.

The story that another Democratic paper will be issued in the city gained a new impetus today by the statement that the project was nearer completion than ever before. The money, it is said, is all in sight, and the men who are expected to enter the scheme are making their arrangements. The paper will be machine set, and enough money is expected in the enterprise to put in a good plant. One of the leaders in the enterprise assured the NEWS REVIEW today that he felt confident the project was in good hands.

TO START MONDAY.

The East End Pipe Works After a Long
Shut Down.

The cheerful announcement is made in East End that the sewer pipe works of Knowles, Taylor & Anderson will be placed in operation on Monday. The plant has been shut down for several months, as have all the factories in the association, because of the lack of orders. Business has commenced to brighten, and the East End plant is among the first to take advantage of the improved condition. The full force will not be put on at present, but men will be added as soon as work can be found for them to do.

Ran Down Franklin Street.

A team ran away on Franklin street, and damaged the wagon to which it was hitched. It is owned by a Mr. Farmer, and scared at a street car.

SESSION WAS SHORT

Board of Health Did Very Little Business.

WERE FEW DEATHS IN JANUARY

But There Were Any Number of Births and the Males Did Not Out Number the Females—Pneumonia Killed Three Persons.

The board of health held a short meeting last night and transacted a little business.

Messrs. Goodwin, Thomas, Ogden, Kauffman, Huston and King were in their places when the meeting began, Mr. Kauffman being in the chair. Mayor Gilbert came in a few minutes later. The report of the state meeting as given by Doctor Ogden was interesting, and an objection was received from Charles Foster. He claimed that he had been greatly annoyed because manure from the Rinehart stable had been thrown right in front of his tenement house, and he wanted to object now, in order that some arrangement might be made for it in the new building. It was left in the hands of the health officer, and if the stuff is thrown in the alley, suit will be brought. The report of the health officer showed 34 births during the month, half of them being males. Of deaths there were six males and seven females. The one disease which figured most in the month was pneumonia, it being responsible for three deaths. There were 21 cases of typhoid during the month, and four of diphtheria. A dozen dogs, two cats and 11 horses were buried, and 25 calls were answered. The following bills were then passed: F. M. Fouts $14.15; Crook & McGrath $3; telephone company 75 cents; East Liverpool Coal company $4.78; New England Vaccine company $10; Albert Barcus $29.75; Charles Stevens $31.50; W. & W. Pharmacy $4.40; C. B. Ogden $46.75; J. T. King $53.50. A bill from W. O. Hamilton for $4.05 was referred back for consideration. Doctor Ogden complained about the telephone company sending in a bill for $36 when the promise was the phone would only cost $10, and a new contract will be made.

MORE ATTENTION.
M. M. Huston Wants it Paid to Public Business.

"I think more attention should be paid to the business of the board of health," said M. M. Huston this morning. "This thing of members and officers leaving a meeting because they have some other engagement has gone far enough. Last night we had business of six months standing to transact, but couldn't do it because those people went away. That is not the way to transact public business, and I think the practice should be stopped."

IRONDALE IN GLOOM.

The Mill Has Been Shut Down for an Indefinite Period.

Workmen at the Irondale tin plant have been notified by the company that the plant has shut down indefinitely, and no one can tell when it will start, as the stockholders have not decided. The mill has been in operation with almost a full force, and the little town has been unusually lively. The men struck against a reduction some time ago, but new men were put in their places. The cause of the shutdown, as given by the company, is that they cannot put in on the market at the present prices and make expenses.

GEN. GORDON'S SPEECH

The U. P. Church Was Packed Last Night.

NO OBJECTIONABLE FEATURES

Were Introduced by This One Time Great Confederate Soldier and Fighter—He Paid Warm Tribute to Grant, Sherman, Sheridan, Hooker, Meade, McClellan and Custer, and Was the Recipient of Heartfelt Applause.

The United Presbyterian church was crowded last night, and General J. B. Gordon, late confederate soldier and gallant fighter, but now thoroughly reconstructed and patriotic citizen, loyal from center to circumference, was given an ovation which must have warmed the very cockles of his soldierly and manly heart. Rev. J. C. Taggart introduced the speaker, in a neat and happy talk, and Gordon captured his audience from the first word uttered by him, securing undivided attention for over two hours, while he gave his sketch of the last days of the confederacy. He began his address by stating that he would not attempt a full description of the great battles of the late war, but would deal with scenes and incidents which would best illustrate the life and character of the American soldier. He gave, in a humorous way, General Lee's reasons for crossing into Pennsylvania in the year 1863, showing that the confederate soldiers were short of rations and that the waving grain and herds of fat cattle upon the hillsides of the Keystone state were an almost irresistible attraction to hungry men, blessed with healthy appetites. Next came a description of Gordon's command in its raid along the Susquehanna river, and of the saving from burning of the town of Wrightsville by the confederate leader. Then followed a glowing tribute to a Pennsylvania woman, whom the speaker described as "the heroine of the Susquehanna;" a woman who treated Gordon and his officers with courtesy and kindness, creating the impression in the general's mind that she was a southern sympathizer; and that is where the southerner made a mistake, as patriotic fire flashed in the loyal woman's eyes as she made reply:

"General Gordon, you must not misinterpret my actions. I am a northern woman, patriotic to the core, and I believe in the justice of our cause. I love the dear old flag and all it represents. My husband and my son are in the northern army, backed by my blessing, and I ask for God's blessing upon them and upon my beloved country."

The orator vowed that he honored and esteemed that noble woman of the Susquehanna, and expressed the opinion that she was the true representative of thousands of her sisters in the northland, and followed this up with a warm tribute to the women of the south, who willingly gave up husbands, fathers, brothers, sons and loved relatives for the cause they loved so well, sacrificing wealth and position and enduring hardships unspeakable.

Coming to the Gettysburg field of carnage, he spoke of the wounding of Major General Barlowe, of the Union army, while gallantly leading his men, in the desperate effort to check the forward movement of the exultant confederates, giving an account of Barlowe's requesting him to deliver certain letters to his beloved wife, then at General Meade's headquarters, in the rear of the union army; of how a flag of truce was sent through the federal lines, and of Mrs. Barlowe coming to her loved husband's side at the hour of midnight and acting the part of the ministering angel. Gordon thought that Barlowe died in that bloody field, as mention was made of the death of General Barlowe, through the northern papers. General J. B. Gordon, of North Carolina, commander of a confederate brigade, was also mentioned among the killed, and Barlowe thought his preserver was dead. Years afterward, in a northern city, the two gallant officers met, and great was their mutual astonishment when explanations were made. It goes without telling that the two men are now close, bosom friends, no longer "rebel" or "union" soldiers, but each loving the dear old flag—each ready to do and dare, and die if necessary, in the defense of the stars and stripes; as the speaker said: "Here is the exemplification of the fact that truth is stranger than fiction."

Next came a glorious tribute to General George G. Meade, union commander at Gettysburg. Gordon stating that the archives at Washington will yet make history showing the superb generalship and military skill of Pennsylvania's soldier son. Then came the relation of an incident which occurred shortly after the war at Atlanta, when General Meade's health was proposed, amid hearty response and cheers, and when, a moment later, some one proposed General J. B. Gordon's health, and a fellow—not a soldier, but a sutler—raised objection, and was sat down upon beautifully by Meade, the soldier, citizen and gentleman:

Then came an account of General Hancock's magnificent soldiers in the wilderness, when he sent his famous dispatch to the commander-in-chief, that he had doubled up and captured one entire confederate command, and was then hot after Jubal Early's command. He also gave an account of the terrible musketry fire upon the flanks of the respective armies, asserting that the discharges had continued, without a moment's cessation, for 20 hours, something never before known in the history of warfare, and the result was awful in the extreme, the fatalities being simply horrifying, the breastworks outside being literally covered with Union dead and wounded, while the ditches inside the works were filled with dead confederates; an occasion when deeds of courage and bravery were common features, such deeds as could not but win admiration from the men engaged on either side.

A description, eloquent in the extreme, was given of the splendid work done by Hancock's command, when Lee's lines were rent in twain, and when the commander-in-chief of the confederate forces, Gen. Robert E. Lee, determined to lead, in person, a desperate charge, in order to endeavor to gain the lost vantage ground. History shows how General Gordon rode to Lee's side, grasped the reins of the latter's war horse in his hand and told the commander that he should not thus risk a life so precious to the confederacy, pleading with Lee to go to the rear, while Gordon himself would lead the charge. Then the rank and file took up the cry of "General Lee to the rear," and literally forced the southern leader to a place of comparative safety. Gordon's native modesty forbade him to speak of himself as the leader of that famous counter charge—but history tells the story as given above.

The relation of the last confederate council, previous to the final surrender, was pathetic in the extreme, and the account of the attempt of Gordon's command to cut through Grant's lines was listened to with wrapt attention, as was the description of Custer's demand for an unconditional surrender, and the meeting, under flag of truce, of gallant Phil Sheridan and General Gordon. General Grant's action in granting such splendidly merciful terms to officers and men of the conquered confederacy was commended upon in glowing terms of approbation, and with such imagery and eloquence as to bring forth a storm of applause from the delighted audience.

General Gordon related numerous instances of the pluck, heroism and staunch courage of the private soldier, federal and confederate, and showed how, under the most adverse circumstances, surrounded by privation, hunger and suffering, his good humor was inexhaustible. Citing an incident, he said that he noted, in a desperate conflict, when the front lines of his forces were melting away under the awful fire from the Union forces, and when the capture of the entire command looked certain, a confederate soldier speeding for the rear, in order to avoid capture and imprisonment. Gordon halted him and said: "See here, my man, what are you running for?" The soldier looked up at him, apparently amazed at such a question, and made reply:

"Hell, General, I'm running because I can't fly!"

The speaker closed with a grand tribute to the stars and stripes, pleading for a united country, no north, no south, but one happy, united land, and urged the youth of our nation to ever encourage this grand thought, and to stand up nobly for the dear old flag and the principles it represents.

A large number of those present went to the platform and shook hands with General Gordon at the close of his speech, and among this number were noted prominent Grand Army men, who evidently found nothing offensive in the eloquent talk of the famous fighter of the confederacy.

The writer, in a private interview with General Gordon, previous to going to the United Presbyterian church said to him: "General Gordon, the report was started in East Liverpool lately that your lectures are given in the interest of a fund which is being raised in the southland, for the purpose of erecting a monument to Jeff Davis."

And then one could see the power

Finance Committee Talked Salaries Last Night.

STATE CASES CUT A FIGURE

Upon the Income From Them Depends the Report of the Committee—How Much the Offices Have Been Worth. More Information Desired.

Finance committee of council discussed the ordinance of Councilman Stewart for the paying of salaries to city officials last night, but did not decide on a report.

The meeting was held in the office of Clerk Hanley, and the door was closed. When the newspaper men appeared and asked for admission they were informed that it was a private session and the report would be given out after it was all over, and though they lingered near in the hope of the committee changing its ruling they met with disappointment. The door did not open.

Doctor Marshall, Mr. Owen, Mr. Stewart and Clerk Hanley were present, and there was a great deal of talk about salaries, costs and cases. The books for two years were gone over carefully and much information gathered.

It was found that in the fiscal year of 1884 the mayor received $829.80 in fees and $250 in salary making his compensation $1,079.80. In the same time the marshal received $546.50 in fees and $660 in salary, making a total of $1,206.50. In this year the committee was compelled to guess a little, but taking the eight months already passed they found the mayor would get $1,189.87 and the marshal $1,165.37. These amounts include the fees from state and city cases, and the committee wanted the state cases separated from those brought under the ordinances.

As Doctor Marshall put it "I want to know whether the law abiding people or the law breaking element of the city is expected to pay these salaries." The law provides a fee for state cases which no ordinance can take away from the officials, and the committee wants to know whether the greater amount in fees comes from state or city cases. To reach this end will require a careful going over of the books for the past five years, and Clerk Hanley was instructed to do the work. The committee has no desire to pay salaries if it is to cost more than the old system.

HOW WILL IT BE?

Can Independent Labor Men Vote at the Primaries?

"What is to be done about the Independent Labor voters at the Republican primaries?" said a well known union man today. "Will their votes be received at the primaries when it is known they will vote against the ticket they then support? I don't think anyone but Republicans should be allowed to vote at the primary, and that each should be asked when the vote is cast. The labor men could support the weakest man at the primaries, and would then turn around and vote their own ticket on election day. I don't believe in allowing people to make a ticket and then help to break it down."

It Comes From New Jersey and Is a Snug Sum.

Thomas Wonkite, employed at the Union pottery as decorator and residing on Thompson hill, has been notified that the estate of his father in Trenton is being settled up and he will have his share. The estate amounted to $60,000, and the Liverpoole man will get $15,000 the number of heirs being four. He has already received $3,000 of the money, and the remainder will be sent here as soon as possible.

A FALSE ALARM.

Some One Called Out the Department This Morning.

When the firemen were snugly sleeping in the station this morning at 2:30 o'clock, some one chanced to pass

the patrol box near the Dresden, and opening the door, it is not locked, sent in an alarm. The bell sounded loudly, and the whole department turned out in haste, made a good run, and found they were fooled. Of course they were glad enough to find there was no fire, but if they had happened upon the individual who sent in the alarm he would have heard something of interest concerning himself.

THE HERALD DESTROYED.

Foreman George Barco Perished in the Flames.

Special to the NEWS REVIEW.

McKEEPORT, Feb. 8.—The Alt-mer theater burned this morning, and with it went the office of the Morning Herald. The forms were being closed for today's paper when the flames burst into the composing room. Foreman George Barco was overcome by the flames and died, and the printers were saved by John Joyce, who knew the building well, and conducted them, fainting and gasping to a fire escape. The beautiful theater was destroyed, and the loss will not fall far short of $300,000.

The first issue of the Herald was put out by Captain Palmer as business manager, and Thomas W. Morris as editor, the property being owned by a stock company. The editor in charge last night was W. T. Anderson, formerly of the NEWS REVIEW, and one of the reporters was Arthur T. Wynne, also well known in Liverpool because of his connection in a reportorial capacity with this paper.

YOUTHFUL THIEVES.

They Were Captured After Stealing From a Hardware Store.

Two boys entered the Eagle hardware store yesterday afternoon, and were seen hastening out of the back door by one of the employees. He followed, but the boys quickly separated, and he was compelled to chase the nearest. He caught the younger on Sixth street and found that he had not taken anything, but he confessed the other had stolen a pair of gloves. He was allowed to go upon the promise the property would be returned. In 10 minutes he was back with the gloves, but meantime a monkey wrench was found missing. He promised to return that and it was brought back. They gave the names of Jones and Hines.

TO MEET WEDNESDAY.

Date of City Primaries Will Then be Chosen.

The Republican Central committee will meet on Wednesday evening at 7 o'clock, and will settle the question that has so long been agitating the mind of every candidate for municipal office. They will decide when the primaries will be held. Questions asked of members of the committee failed to elicit any information as to the probable date. On the same evening the Republicans of the township will select delegates to the congressional convention. It is desired that the meeting be held promptly at the time indicated since many Republicans want to attend the Lincoln banquet.

THAT DEMOCRATIC DAILY.

More Talk of Another Afternoon Paper in Town.

The story that another Democratic paper will be issued in the city gained a new impetus today by the statement that the project was nearer completion than ever before. The money, it is said, is all in sight, and the men who are expected to enter the scheme are making their arrangements. The paper will be machine set, and enough money is expected in the enterprise to put in a good plant. One of the leaders in the enterprise assured the NEWS REVIEW today that he felt confident the project was in good hands.

TO START MONDAY.

The East End Pipe Works After a Long Shut Down.

The cheerful announcement is made in East End that the sewer pipe works of Knowles, Taylor & Anderson will be placed in operation on Monday. The plant has been shut down for several months, as have all the factories in the association, because of the lack of orders. Business has commenced to brighten, and the East End plant is among the first to take advantage of the improved condition. The full force will not be put on at present, but men will be added as soon as work can be found for them to do.

THREW OUT THE DRIVER.

An Exciting Runaway on Second Street.

Peter McDevitt was driving his horse, attached to a light buggy, on Second street last night, when the animal took flight at a street car and ran away. The driver was tossed without ceremony into the street, and the animal dashed along the way at the top of its speed. When near the Commercial house it swerved from its course and ran on a cellar door, where it was caught. The shafts of the buggy struck a telegraph pole and were broken and the harness was damaged.

SET THE DATE.

The Republican Convention Will Be Held in March.

Special to NEWS REVIEW.

COLUMBUS, Feb. 8.—The state committee today decided to hold the Republican convention on March 10 and 11. The temporary chairman will be Senator Foraker. A resolution endorsing Major McKinley for president was passed with a hurrah, the sentiment in his favor being very strong.

SESSION WAS SHORT

Board of Health Did Very Little Business.

WERE FEW DEATHS IN JANUARY

But There Were Any Number of Births and the Males Did Not Out Number the Females—Pneumonia Killed Three Persons.

The board of health held a short meeting last night and transacted a little business.

Messrs. Goodwin, Thomas, Ogden, Kaufman, Huston and King were in their places when the meeting began, Mr. Kaufman being in the chair. Mayor Gilbert came in a few minutes later. The report of the state meeting as given by Doctor Ogden was interesting, and an objection was received from Charles Foster. He claimed that he had been greatly annoyed because manure from the Rinehart stable had been thrown right in front of his tenement house, and he wanted to object now, in order that some arrangement might be made for it in the new building. It was left in the hands of the health officer, and if the stuff is thrown in the alley, suit will be brought. The report of the health officer showed 34 births during the month, half of them being males. Of deaths there were six males and seven females. The one disease which figured most in the month was pneumonia, it being responsible for three deaths. There were 21 cases of typhoid during the month, and four of diphtheria. A dozen dogs, two cats and 11 horses were buried, and 25 calls were answered. The following bills were then passed: F. M. Fouts $14.15; Crook & McGraw $3; telephone company 75 cents; East Liverpool Coal company $4.78; New England Vaccine company $10; Albert Barcus $29.75; Charles Stevens $31.50; W. & W. Pharmacy $4.40; C. B. Ogden $46.75; J. T. King $53.50. A bill from W. O. Hamilton for $4.05 was referred back for consideration. Doctor Ogden complained about the telephone company sending in bill for $36 when the promise was the phone would only cost $10, and a new contract will be made.

MORE ATTENTION.

M. M. Huston Wants it Paid to Public Business.

"I think more attention should be paid to the business of the board of health," said M. M. Huston this morning. "This thing of members and officers leaving a meeting because they have some other engagement has gone far enough. Last night we had business of six months standing to transact, but couldn't do it because those people went away. That is not the way to transact public business, and I think the practice should be stopped."

EAST LIVERPOOL, O., SATURDAY, FEB. 8.

For President,
WILLIAM MCKINLEY,
of Ohio.

A GOOD THING.

China, Glass and Lamps, after endorsing the suggestion of a local potter in the NEWS REVIEW regarding a national crockery exhibit, says:

"It will be conceded that the task of organizing American potters for a national exhibit, or a series of annual exhibits in the great population centres, will be a far less arduous undertaking than that of either a cycle show or an exhibit embracing the industrial, agricultural and mineral products of an entire section of our country, as is contemplated in the California exhibition."

MCKINLEY THE LEADER.

A California paper puts forth William McKinley in this way:

"There is a feeling raging all through the Union and bound to enlarge by what it feeds on that the reign of Mr. Cleveland must be abrogated by action at the polls next November. There is a nascent sentiment, which will not fade, that McKinley, of Ohio, must be the next arbiter of the destinies of the commonwealth. As a soldier he is worthy; as a statesman in congress he earned the right to be most eligible for our greatest office; as a governor of Ohio he has shown he is the one who should be chief magistrate of the United States. Our system of finance is drooping. He has the knowledge of how to ameliorate the fiscal situation. Our rule for amassing funds for the conduct of our affairs is monstrously imperfect. Actuated by a spirit of equity, and controlled by a temperament unimpeded by clear, sound sense, McKinley as president can call into employment the relief necessitated. He can obliterate the crisis!"

PUGS DARE NOT FIGHT.

TO SAVE THEIR QUEUES.

Rebellion In Korea Against the King's Order to Cut Them Off.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 8.—The steamer Gaelic from Hong Kong and Yokohama has brought the following advices: The king of Korea recently issued a proclamation urging the sacrifice of the queues and set the example by having his own hair cut, the prince royal following suit. The proclamation created consternation in both official and private circles. The minister of education resigned and retired to his country home when his protests at the innovation were disregarded.

Many lesser government officials also resigned rather than sacrifice their locks. The proclamation excited alarm among the people at large, but at each of the four gates of the capital constables are posted to await the coming of country people to compel them to submit to the barbers who are in waiting for their hair. Western hats and coats are generally adopted by those who lose their queues. In the rural districts the Koreans have broken out into actual rebellion at the proclamation. Many local governors have resigned their posts owing to their unwillingness to cut off their queues. Several hundred people have fled to the mountains and as many more are under arms preparing to attack the Korean troops.

A ROLL OVER SECESSION.

Barrett Wanted Talbot Censured In the House For Upholding It.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.—A bitter controversy has occurred in the house. It sprang from the remarks by Mr. Talbot (Dem., S. C.), in defense of secession, which Mr. Barrett (Rep., Mass.), interpreted as treasonable. He had the speaker's words taken down and offered a resolution of censure.

After a wrangle and some explanations Mr. Dalzell of Pennsylvania moved to refer the Barrett resolution to the committee on judiciary. This was carried by a vote of 154 to 41. This is understood to mean that no notice will be taken of the matter. Mr. Owens of Kentucky was the only Democrat who voted against the motion. Talbot denied any intention of disloyalty to the flag, and said he merely defended secession under the circumstances extant at the time of the rebellion.

Proper instructions will be sent by the war department to General Wheaton, the department commander at Denver, to promptly supply all the force requisite upon the request of the proper authorities, and altogether the national government is prepared to make it very unpleasant and dangerous for any person who participates in a prizefight in any of the federal territories, or even gives aid and comfort to the would-be fighters by assembling at any point to witness a fight.

THE SULTAN TO THE QUEEN.

He Writes a Letter Blaming the Atrocities on the Armenians.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Feb. 8.—The sultan has replied to the autograph letter of Queen Victoria, and which it has been understood was a personal appeal to the better nature of the sultan against the condition of Asia Minor, sympathizing with her in the humane sentiments expressed and declaring that the reports of the massacres were spread by evil disposed persons. The sultan adds that, contrary to the allegations, it was the Turks who were first attacked while praying in the mosque. Continuing, the sultan has assured the queen that the measures taken have succeeded in restoring order, that except at Zeitoun quiet prevails everywhere, and that the negotiations going on with the insurgents of Zeitoun will undoubtedly lead to the inhabitants resuming their avocations.

In regard to the request of Minister Terrell, that the United States legation be allowed a dispatch boat for its service, the Turkish government contends that as the passage of the straits of the Dardanelles was regulated by an agreement between the six powers, the United States must apply to them for the necessary permission, as she is not a party to the treaty of Paris. On behalf of the United States, it is understood, the contention is made that the regulations do not apply to the United States, and that she considers the straits of the Dardanelles to be open waters. The opposition of Russia is said to be the cause of the Sultan's action.

HAD TWO FAMILIES.

Why Hellman Murdered His Wife, Four Children and Himself.

CHICAGO, Feb. 8.—Investigation in connection with the wholesale slasher of the Klaetke family by anarchist Richard Klaetke, has brought to light a fresh sensation regarding the killing of the Hellman family, one of the several parallel cases here within the past few months. Hellman, who was a prosperous contractor, asphyxiated his wife, four children and himself.

At the time it was supposed to be the result of insanity, but it has now been discovered that Hellman had two families—the Chicago household and a wife and two children living in Germany. A short time before the tragedy occurred, Hellman received news that his deserted wife in Germany was even then on her way with her children to America. Hellman's first wife arrived a few days after the tragedy, and is now living in the house in which her husband and his American family died.

PUGS DARE NOT FIGHT.

The Anti-Prizefight Bill Now a Law.

THE PRESIDENT HAS SIGNED IT.

New Mexico's Governor Will Be Held Responsible For Preventing the Fight. General Wheaton to Be Ordered to Place Troops at His Disposal.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.—The Catron bill, to prevent prizefighting in the District of Columbia and territories, has been signed by the president.

When the bill reached the White House the usual routine was departed from and the measure taken at once to Mr. Cleveland, who, after examining its provisions, promptly attached his signature, so that from the date of signature prizefighting is a felony on all soil over which the federal government has exclusive jurisdiction. Prompt measures will be taken to see that it is not violated.

By the signature of the anti-prizefight bill the president has placed upon the governor of New Mexico the responsibility for the prevention of the Fitzsimmons-Maher mill in that territory. The governor may call upon the United States marshal for assistance, and the latter in turn may avail himself of the services of all of the United States troops in the department of Colorado if that many are necessary in order to suppress any illegal gathering or breach of the new law.

Proper instructions will be sent by the war department to General Wheaton, the department commander at Denver, to promptly supply all the force requisite upon the request of the proper authorities, and altogether the national government is prepared to make it very unpleasant and dangerous for any person who participated in a prizefight in any of the federal territories, or even gives aid and comfort to the world-breeders by assembling at any point to witness a fight.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.—President Cleveland Sends to Congress the Report of the Commission.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.—President Cleveland has sent to the house the report of the commissioners appointed under act of congress to make an investigation of the route of the proposed Nicaragua canal. The salient features of the document have already been published. The estimated cost of the entire canal is $269,633,333.

The commission suggests that all locks in the canal should have a width of 80 feet, as United States warships, like the Iowa, have a beam of 72 feet. Other suggestions of a technical nature are made.

For obtaining the necessary data for a final project, 18 months' time, covering two dry seasons, and an expenditure of $350,000 will be required.

AWARDING THE BONDS.

Over $34,000,000 Will Go to the Morgan Syndicate.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.—The treasury has completed its tabulation of the bids above the Morgan syndicate bid. The result is 781 bids for a total of $66,788,650. This leaves the amount which will be awarded to the Morgan syndicate $4,211,350.

The treasury rejected a few bids for the reason that they bore evidence of being fictitious, so that the amounts stated are the corrected figures.

REPUBLICAN CAUCUS NOMINEES.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.—The Republican senators in caucus nominated A. J. Shaw of Spokane, Wash., for secretary of the senate; N. L. Grant of North Carolina for sergeant-at-arms, and Alonzo Stewart of Ohio to succeed the late Captain Bassett as assistant door-keeper. It was decided to make no change in the office of chaplain.

AMERICANS UNDER EXAMINATION.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.—Vice Consul Knight has cabled the state department that the cases of the Americans arrested at Johannesburg are now under preliminary examination and the formal trial will take place April 21. The vice consul also states that Hammond is out on bail.

Frye Elected President Pro Tem.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.—Senator Frye has been elected president pro tem. of the senate without opposition. Senator Allen made a speech in support of the Monroe doctrine. Other matter of minor importance was considered.

THE PRESIDENT HUNTING DUCKS.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.—President Cleveland left the city shortly after midnight on a lighthouse tender for a day's duck hunting at Quantico, Va. He was accompanied by E. C. Benedict.

REFERRED TO A COMMITTEE.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.—The resolution to distribute the appropriation bills among the senate committees has been referred to the committee on rules by a vote of 40 yeas to 28 nays.

CONDITION OF THE TREASURY.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.—The statement of the condition of the treasury shows: Available cash balance, $171,145,407; gold reserve, $45,297,428.

OUT HALF OF THE PRICE.

BUCKLEY, O., Feb. 8.—H. M. Deal & Co. have received a package of 130 Mexican silver dollars in payment for machinery recently sold in Mexico. No bank here is willing to receive the silver at more than 50 cents on the dollar. Hence H. M. Deal & Co. are out just half the price of the machinery.

STREET CAR CONDUCTOR KILLED.

PITTSBURG, Feb. 8.—A second avenue street car has been struck by engine No. 1133, in charge of Engineer William Hughes. The car was demolished and the conductor, W. H. Cooper, was killed, and the motorman, J. Riddle, was badly, perhaps fatally injured.

TO SAVE THEIR QUEUES

Rebellion in Korea Against the King's Order to Cut Them Off.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 8.—The steamer Gaelic from Hong Kong and Yokohama has brought the following advices: The king of Korea recently issued a proclamation urging the sacrifice of the queues and set the example by having his own hair cut, the prince royal following suit. The proclamation created consternation in both official and private circles. The minister of education resigned and retired to his country home when his protests at the innovation were disregarded.

Many lesser government officials also resigned rather than sacrifice their locks. The proclamation excited alarm among the people at large, but at each of the four gates of the capital constables are posted to await the coming of country people to compel them to submit to the barbers who are in waiting for their hair. Western hats and coats are generally adopted by those who lose their queues. In the rural districts the Koreans have broken out into actual rebellion at the proclamation. Many local governors have resigned their posts owing to their unwillingness to cut off their queues. Several hundred people have fled to the mountains and as many more are under arms preparing to attack the Korean troops.

A ROW OVER SECESSION.

Barrett Wanted Talber Censured in the House For Upholding It.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.—A bitter controversy has occurred in the house. It sprang from the remarks by Mr. Talber (Dem., S. C.), in defense of secession, which Mr. Barrett (Rep., Mass.), interpreted as treasonable. He had the speaker's words taken down and offered a resolution of censure.

After a wrangle and some explanations Mr. Dalzell of Pennsylvania moved to refer the Barrett resolution to the committee on judiciary. This was carried by a vote of 154 to 41. This is understood to mean that no notice will be taken of the matter. Mr. Owens of Kentucky was the only Democrat who voted against the motion. Talber denied any intention of disloyalty to the flag, and said he merely defended secession under the circumstances extant at the time of the rebellion.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Feb. 8.—The sultan has replied to the autograph letter of Queen Victoria, and which it has been understood was a personal appeal to the better nature of the sultan against the condition of Asia Minor, sympathizing with her in the humane sentiments expressed and declaring that the reports of the massacres were spread by evil disposed persons. The sultan adds that, contrary to the allegations, it was the Turks who were first attacked while praying in the mosque. Continuing, the sultan has assured the queen that the measures taken have succeeded in restoring order, that except at Zeitoun quiet prevails everywhere and that the negotiations going on with the insurgents of Zeitoun will undoubtedly lead to the inhabitants resuming their trade.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.—President Cleveland Sends to Congress the Report of the Commission.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.—President Cleveland has sent to the house the report of the commissioners appointed under act of congress to make an investigation of the route of the proposed Nicaragua canal. The salient features of the document have already been published. The estimated cost of the entire canal is $269,633,333.

The commission suggests that all locks in the canal should have a width of 80 feet, as United States warships, like the Iowa, have a beam of 72 feet. Other suggestions of a technical nature are made.

For obtaining the necessary data for a final project, 18 months' time, covering two dry seasons, and an expenditure of $350,000 will be required.

AWARDING THE BONDS.

Over $34,000,000 Will Go to the Morgan Syndicate.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.—The treasury has completed its tabulation of the bids above the Morgan syndicate bid. The result is 781 bids for a total of $66,788,650. This leaves the amount which will be awarded to the Morgan syndicate $4,211,350.

The treasury rejected a few bids for the reason that they bore evidence of being fictitious, so that the amounts stated are the corrected figures.

SEWER CONTRACTORS ARE ACCUSED

The City Civil Engineer Also Indicted. They Are Accused of Getting Away with $42,000 — The Chief Witness Against Them Also in Trouble.

COLUMBUS, Feb. 8.—The grand jury has returned indictments against Nathaniel B. Abbott and Henry S. Hallwood of Columbus, Orville Townsend of Zanesville and Albert Adams of Peoria, Ills., on account of alleged corruption among contractors in the construction of a main West Side sewer. Josiah Kinnear, the city civil engineer, was also indicted in the same connection. A city council committee investigation reported that $4,000 had been overdrawn or improperly accounted for in this sewer work. The contractors are men of wide reputation as excellent sewer builders and pavement makers, Mr. Hallwood being the patentee of the Hallwood block or brick.

They have done work in or shipped brick and blocks to all of the principal cities of the central states. They also stand high in fraternal affairs and two or more are prominent in church matters. Abbott, Hallwood and Kinnear have many friends in this city. The chief witness before the jury was L. C. Klemmer, a sub engineer on the work for the city, who, having subsequently left the city on account of forgery in another matter, was captured at New Orleans.

THE STATE LEGISLATURE.

A Number of Bills Under Consideration In Both Houses.

COLUMBUS, Feb. 8.—A bill has been introduced in the house to tax coal mines and oil wells, and taxing foreign coal and oil the same as other merchandise.

Other bills introduced were:

Giving probate court authority to release mortgages for assignees and trustees.

Requiring all costs in justices' courts to be paid before an appeal can be taken.

Increasing penalty for girdling trees. Prohibiting insurance companies from insuring children under 10.

Requiring the supreme court to pass on the weight of evidence, and providing that circuit courts shall not do so except where they have original jurisdiction.

Allowing sheriffs to collect fees before summoning jurors to fill a panel.

Limiting time to six weeks in which a corporation may show cause why it should not be dissolved.

Mr. Sleeper announced the resignation of Mr. Smith from the house committee on enrollment and appointed Mr. McLean.

A bill authorizing assignees and trustees to sell notes for deferred payments on real estate was passed.

Mr. McBride will introduce a bill placing a tax of $10 on retail and $25 on wholesale tobacco dealers.

Bills introduced in the senate were: Reducing fees of county officials about one-third.

Requiring that in all shops where dust creating machinery is used blowers must be provided.

Permitting children under 12 to attend the nearest school in districts of the first class.

Requiring street car conductors to look ahead where lines intersect before crossing.

House bill prohibiting fictitious names in partnership was passed.

Bill providing for issuing refunding school bonds was passed.

Dr. Talbot of Cincinnati Missing.

COLUMBUS, Feb. 8.—A Cincinnati mystery with a Columbus end to it developed here when Mrs. Caroline West of Thorntown, Perry county, arrived to inquire for her missing brother, Dr. J. L. Talbot of Cincinnati. Dr. Talbot came to Columbus Jan. 13, to attend the inauguration of Governor Bushnell, and none of his friends has seen or heard from him since. It is feared he has met with foul play.

Bit by a Scholar.

PORISPORT, O., Feb. 8.—Prof. Paul Williams, principal of the South Webster schools, has been attacked by an unruly pupil named Grant Newell. In the melee young Newell bit a big chunk of flesh out of the teacher's forehead. Newell has been arrested.

SMALL OHIO HAPPENINGS.

James Mowatt, a prominent Springfield man, dropped dead of vertigo.

The teachers of the Dayton public schools visited the public schools at Indianapolis.

Patrick Lee and Joseph Harrison, residents of North Dayton, were arrested by the police at Dayton on the charge of burglary.

Nathan Vincent was arrested at Springfield charged with the robbery and assault of Frank Shonecker of Owens, Ills., on Oct. 27, last.

J. H. Adams, an Xenia saloonkeeper, arrested in Dayton on the charge of carrying concealed weapons, was fined $100 and costs in police court.

Eugene V. Debs delivered a brief address at the A. R. U. hall in Marion. The hall was crowded, although his coming had not been announced.

A son of Edmond Lindsey, aged 21, living near Lindale, was chopping wood when the ax glanced, striking the left instep, cutting a bad gash.

James L. Dinsmore, the traveling man who was charged with embezzlement by several local customers at Portsmouth, has been declared insane and will be taken to the asylum.

Pred Sloop of Findlay, of the Edna Organ company, Monroeville, has brought suit in Huron county court against that company for $10,000 for defamation of character. Sloop was charged with embezzeling $1,190.

Mrs. Ella Milligan and John Rickey, who eloped from Marietta a short time ago, have been arrested at Portsmouth. Mrs. Milligan is charged with having chloroformed her husband and relieved him of $400.

Detectives Mahoney and O'Neill arrested Charles Flora and B. A. Keesthler of Cincinnati at Columbus on suspicion. One of the prisoners confessed to stealing sheep and the detectives recovered seven of the stolen animals.

LOCAL BREVIETIES.

Evangelist Schivere will begin meetings at the rink on the evening of March 1.

The next shoot of the local club may be held on grounds in Wellsville. It will be a live bird shoot.

George McKinnon, of East End, who has been in Lisbon on the grand jury, came home last night.

Mrs. W. R. Clark delightfully entertained a party of lady friends at tea yesterday afternoon, in honor of her guests.

The evangelistic meetings that have been in progress at the Second U. P. church for a week will be continued next week.

There are five new cars yet to come for the street railway before the equipment is complete, and these are expected early next week.

Reverend Hummel, of New Cumberland, will assist Reverend Whitehead in a series of special meetings at the Methodist Protestant church next week.

T. K. Bradshaw stated today that the settlement in his case against J. C. Deidrick was made yesterday at the request of the defendant, who also pays the cost.

Mrs. George Grosshans entertained at her home on Lincoln avenue this afternoon in honor of Mrs. Knox and Mrs. Haight, who are visiting here from Marietta.

A fight occurred at a river pottery yesterday afternoon, two boys having disagreed. They settled their difference in the regulation manner, but neither was hurt.

W. S. Cowan removed with his family to Beaver Falls today, and Harry Fair moved to Butler. These are the first families to leave town for several weeks.

Reverend Hall, who has been in a Pittsburgh hospital for many weeks, suffering from typhoid fever, has recovered and will be discharged from the institution next week.

The minstrel performance which has been in preparation for several months by a number of black faced artists of local fame has been abandoned, and will not be given.

The hauling of stone from the quarry on the other side of the river will be commenced next week. The contract has been let to the Cunningham Bros., and they will put six teams at work Monday.

George Battison, who made many friends here while judging at the dog show, went to his home in Youngstown today. He complimented the NEWS REVIEW highly for the published reports of the show.

The Central District company have a large force at work between Wheeling and Steubenville building a long distance line. Communication between this city and Wheeling will be direct when it is completed.

Colonel Stickney has made his report on the river improvements, and asks an appropriation for three dams to be built below Pittsburg. He has located them and the farthest down the river is at Freedom. The improvement would be a big thing for the river.

Doc Leyde says that his building was set on fire by some unprincipled party who wanted to burn him out. There was no fire in the stove, no matches in the room, and his pipe was in his pocket, some distance away from the place. Sneak thieves visited him before the fire, and stole numerous things from him.

Company E has a meeting on Monday evening, and will probably select a captain at that time. The officers will insist on the meeting being held behind closed doors, and none but members of the command will be admitted. Lieutenant Johnson expects to receive important information from Colonel Gyger before the meeting is held.

The Virginia passed up the river this morning at 3 o'clock, and left here a number of empty crates and some hoop poles. The river today is stationary, and the flood has reached its height. The Lorena will go down tonight, and the Pacific and Twilight went up this morning. All the coal has passed down from Pittsburg, and there were no accidents.

Much comment has been made recently because some thief, or a party of thieves, have been stealing at the Fourth street school. The degradations have been confined to small things but the practice has become most annoying. Complaints are made frequently, but the guilty ones can not be found. Efforts are being made to ferret them out, but they seem to know enough to keep out of the way.

The meeting to discuss good roads that has been called for the Township line school next Tuesday evening has caused a great deal of talk among the farmers. D. J. Smith was in town today and when asked if he would attend the meeting: "Yes" he said, "I am going, and I propose giving them a good example of this road business, for I have to walk seven miles to get there. I can't drive, because the roads are too bad."

GEN. GORDON'S SPEECH.

of the man, as exemplified in the days when he held important command in the confederate army. His eyes flashed fire and he sat erect in his chair as he burst forth with:

"What human vampire dared hatch such an infamous falsehood? I am as truly loyal to my country and the old flag as any man, north or south, in all this domain. I was the warm friend and intimate acquaintance of General Grant. I followed the remains of the gallant Hancock to their last resting place, and no truer mourner than myself was there. I believe in this great nation, one and indivisible, and I am teaching the youth of the land that mutual safety requires absolute unity. In the light of the stand I have taken, is it not an infamous thing for a human being to concoct and spread such stories?"

General J. B. Gordon is an elder in the Presbyterian church. He is an ardent lover and student of the new testament, and hopes, through the love and mercy of the blessed Savior, to win a place in the ranks of the Great Commander, in the land beyond the river of death. The report has been spread broadcast that he is a wealthy man, and that his check is good for a couple of millions of dollars. The truth is that he is a poor man, not worth anything, from a financial standpoint, when affairs are settled up. But he is rich in common manhood and unflinching courage, and has a host of friends all over the United States.

"Nip and Tuck."

Webber's Ideals will be here next Monday and will remain all week, and they will give entertainments that are conducive of longevity, through the instrumentality of producing health-giving laughter. "Nip and Tuck" has been given here on previous occasions, and attracted full houses. See it on Monday night, as presented by true artists, and you will no longer require the services of a physician. It is a rib tickler of the first water, and casts dyspepsia into the shade, making you glad that you are living on this beautiful earth.

Part of the Fence Gone.

The fence at the lower end of the ball ground has blown down and some people in that section of the city are using it for kindling wood. In the past few years many fences have been erected at the ball ground, only to be torn down in the winter, and used for building fires. It seems almost an impossibility to build a fence around the ground that will stand the year around.

The Fillers In Quiet.

There was some trouble at the Mountford pottery this morning because of a disagreement between the fillers in and the management. The girls wanted five cents a dozen for a certain decoration, and the company refused to pay it on the ground that the demand was exorbitant. They would not work for day wages.

Have you read "The Wonderful," by Rev. W. E. Sloane?

Ferguson & Hill, Rev. John F. Patterson, pastor Central Presbyterian church, Orange, N. J., says: "Your new story will be helpful to young people and will make the Christ more real to them."

Libby Prison Tonight.

The Clifton and Middletown company will play "Libby Prison" at the Grand tonight. The play is repeated by special request, Mr. Middletown having been repeatedly urged to change the original bill. The play is a good one, and the company is all right. A good crowd saw "Roxey" last night, and were delighted.

TO ALL PEOPLE.

Next week is your last opportunity to secure elegant cabinet photos at MacKenzie's studio, First National bank building, at the low price of $1.50 per dozen. Make hay while the sun shines.

Lost a Bracelet.

A lady with a child in her arms alighted from the noon train today and discovered when she had walked some distance from the depot that she had lost a bracelet from her arm. She returned, but was unable to find any trace of the missing article.

To the Public.

We desire to make the public at large acquainted with the fact that the fillers in at Mountford's pottery have been offered a reduction and have refused to accept the same, and hereby respectfully request all fillers in of East Liverpool and surrounding country to keep away from said pottery until the trouble is satisfactorily settled.

FILLERS IN.

All Ladies

Who desire to consult Mrs. Dr. Harkey Adams should bear in mind that the date of her next visit will be Wednesday, Feb. 12. Office, Hotel Grand.

Liquor Men Give Bond for Their Appearance.

Special to NEWS REVIEW.

LISBON, Feb. 8.—The number of indictments for infractions of the liquor law was 48, and of these 25 were for selling to minors, 20 to habituals, and three for selling on Sunday. The following from the northern part of the county appeared, plead not guilty, and gave bond: Allen Retter, Fred Swab, John Stull, Frank Scrivener, selling to habituals. Frank Moss, Wayne Morgan, Harry Bergman, O. Hendricks and Michael Fink were charged with selling to minors. Court adjourned until Tuesday. The liquor cases will be heard Feb. 18.

O. W. G. Hardman, sheriff of Tyler county, W. Va., appreciates a good thing and does not hesitate to say so. He was almost prostrated with a cold when he procured a bottle of Chamberlain's cough remedy. He says: "It gave me prompt relief. I find it to be an invaluable remedy for coughs and colds." For sale by A. H. Bulger, druggist.

PROTEGE OF THE WEALTHY.

Mrs. Spaulding, Suing the Pullmans, Has Had a Romantic Career.

CHICAGO, Feb. 8.—The life story of Mrs. Lydia Spaulding the woman who has brought suit against the Pullman Palace Car company and the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe railway for the recovery of $100,000 damages, is a romantic one. She was a Virginia girl married to an aged physician, who failed in Virginia City, Nev. She moved to San Francisco, where she ran a private boardinghouse in the palatial Ralston mansion. Here lived Mr. and Mrs. Fair, Mr. and Mrs. Flood, Mr. and Mrs. Mackay and many others of almost fabulous fortunes.

Her husband and son died suddenly. Then Mrs. Fair built for her the beautiful Bellavista hotel, where she became rich. Broken down in health she started to Europe last June.

Arriving at Leadville, Colo., she was taken from the apartments in a Pullman palace car and placed in the city prison, where, she claims, she was detained 48 hours without a charge being made against her, among thieves and vagrants. She claims her detention and attendant indignities were caused by employees of the Pullman company, whom she alleges took her money and jewels, worth $8,000 altogether.

The defendants deny that Mrs. Spaulding's detention was caused by them and claim that it was brought about by the civic authorities of Leadville, who took such steps to prevent the violent manner from inflicting injury upon her, self, or possibly taking her own life.

DUN'S REVIEW OF TRADE.

SUCCESS of the Bond Issue Gives Business a Bright Outlook.

NEW YORK, Feb. 8.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade, issued to-day, says: The wonderful success of the popular loan alters the face of events. The influence of this event upon all manufacturing and all trade cannot be lightly estimated. It strips the silver agitation of all its power to hurt. It puts the treasury on a safe basis for a time, whether congress does anything useful or not. It unlocks millions of gold which have been gathered in preparation, brings directly several millions of gold from Europe and stimulates the anxiety of foreign investors to obtain American securities.

With such a revolution in business suddenly effected the records of the past week and month are of less value than usual. But there have been signs of improvement in the iron manufacture, although the average of prices is nearly 1 per cent lower this week, for orders have been booked for nearly 300,000 tons of rails this year against total deliveries in 1885 of 1,000,000 tons, and orders for wire nails are stimulated by a decision to advance the price again March 1. There is also a more active demand for plates and sheets. Southern competition lowers coke iron at Chicago and prevents advance at the east, while sales of last year's speculators in the Pittsburgh region still depress Bessemer. The ore pool is expected to fix the price for the year at $4, or possibly $4.50,

ARE YOU LOOKING FOR SNAPS?

If you are, we are as well able to supply you as is the ginger cake baker; and you'll have just as much enjoyment from ours as his.

FOR INSTANCE,

You are in the habit of wearing about a $20 overcoat or suit. Buy either of these now from us and they will only cost you $15. Won't that taste sweet to you? That's the basis of our great 1-4 off sale we're having now. No matter what you select in a heavyweight suit or overcoat, we'll chop off 25 per cent of the regular price.

THEN, THE ASSORTMENT.

We don't want to speak in boasting tones, but we do believe that the man who cannot be fitted and satisfied here, can't be anywhere else.

GEN. GORDON'S SPEECH.

of the man, as exemplified in the days when he held important command in the confederate army. His eyes flashed fire and he sat erect in his chair as he burst forth with:

"What human vampire dared hatch such an infamous falsehood? I am as truly loyal to my country and the old flag as any man, north or south, in all this domain. I was the warm friend and intimate acquaintance of General Grant. I followed the remains of the gallant Hancock to their last resting place, and no truer mourner than myself was there. I believe in this great nation, one and indivisible, and am teaching the youth of the land that mutual safety requires absolute unity. In the light of the stand I have taken, is it not an infamous thing for a human being to concoct and spread such stories?"

General J. B. Gordon is an elder in the Presbyterian church. He is an ardent lover and student of the new testament, and hopes, through the love and mercy of the blessed Savior, to win a place in the ranks of the Great Commander, in the land beyond the river of death. The report has been spread broadcast that he is a wealthy man, and that his check is good for a couple of millions of dollars. The truth is that he is a poor man, not worth anything, from a financial standpoint, when affairs are settled up. But he is rich in common manhood and unflinching courage, and has a host of friends all over the United States.

Nip and Tuck.

Webber's Ideals will be here next Monday and will remain all week, and they will give entertainments that are conducive of longevity, through the instrumentality of producing health-giving laughter. "Nip and Tuck" has been given here on previous occasions, and attracted full houses. See it on Monday night, as presented by true artists, and you will no longer require the services of a physician. It is a rib tickler of the first water, and casts dyspepsia into the shade, making you glad that you are living on this beautiful earth.

Part of the Fence Gone.

The fence at the lower end of the ball ground has blown down and some people in that section of the city are using it for kindling wood. In the past few years many fences have been erected at the ball ground, only to be torn down in the winter, and used for building fires. It seems almost an impossibility to build a fence around the ground that will stand the year around.

The Fillers In Quiet.

There was some trouble at the Mountford pottery this morning because of a disagreement between the fillers in and the management. The girls wanted five cents a dozen for a certain decoration, and the company refused to pay it on the ground that the demand was exorbitant. They would not work for day wages.

William Bradley Paid.

William Bradley appeared in the office of Mayor Gilbert last night and paid $6.60, the amount opposite his name because he was implicated in the row on Broadway. Charles Hutcheson has not yet been fined.

CASES IN COURT.

Lost a Bracelet.

A lady with a child in her arms alighted from the noon train today and discovered when she had walked some distance from the depot that she had lost a bracelet from her arm. She returned, but was unable to find any trace of the missing article.

To the Public.

We desire to make the public at large acquainted with the fact that the fillers in at Mountford's pottery have been offered a reduction and have refused to accept the same, and hereby respectfully request all fillers in of East Liverpool and surrounding country to keep away from said pottery until the trouble is satisfactorily settled.
